Part D 4%
In part D, you will hear one or more passages.
Choose the best answers to those questions.

Passage 1 (請先閱讀下列試題)

Hello, class. Today we are going to talk about historical weapons. In ancient times, weapons were greatly responsible for giving countries their power. About 2,000 years ago, a simple weapon called the longbow gave England its strength. A longbow is a large bow—a piece of bent wood with a string that can fire pointed sticks, called arrows. England won a war with France purely because the island country had more longbows. At the same time, on the other side of the world, China became a great power because it had gunpowder. China was able to keep Japanese armies away by firing exploding rockets at them. Old Japanese paintings even show armies defending themselves against these weapons. There will be a test on this topic on Monday. (Apr. Unit 7)

- D 15. Why did France lose the war with England?
(A) The French army was too weak.
(B) The French army was not big enough.
(C) England had better weapons than France.
(D) England had a larger number of weapons.
- B 16. How do we know that the Chinese had exploding weapons a long time ago?
(A) The Japanese wrote about it in their history books.

- (B) There are old Japanese artworks that show the weapons.
(C) The Chinese were not using bows and arrows at that time.
(D) They developed the weapons at the time England and France were at war.

Passage 2 (請先閱讀下列試題)

Good morning, students! Last week we discussed the global disappearance of bees. Scientists and farmers began to notice this trend about 20 years ago, and bee colonies are still dying off. However, the desire for honey is enormous, so this week I want to focus on a related situation—fake honey. This is an amount of real honey that is mixed in with sugars or other artificial products. Doing so creates a product like honey that can compete in the market. A recent study showed that almost 20% of Australian brands and 50% of Chinese honey companies no longer sell “pure” honey. Not only is this unhealthy, but the lack of laws means that you don’t actually know what you’re eating. Any questions? Then let’s do some tests and see what fake honey looks like... (May Unit 10)

- A 17. What is the talk mainly about?
(A) The effect that dying bees will have on food safety.
(B) The effect that fake honey will have on people’s health.
(C) The efforts needed to help honey companies compete.
(D) The dangers of buying honey from foreign countries.
- C 18. What is “fake honey”?
(A) It is the thing causing bees to die

- off.
(B) It is just sugar mixed with Chinese products.
(C) It is real honey mixed with sugars and other things.
(D) It is too difficult to know what is really in it.

Passage 3 (請先閱讀下列試題)

Hello, everyone. Welcome to the company. Because this is your first day on the job, I’ll give you a bit of information about the company. You already know that we make Bluetooth devices. First, let me tell you where the name “Bluetooth” comes from. Actually, we didn’t want to use this name for the technology. The first name we thought of was “PAN.” That’s a pretty boring name, right? I don’t think many people want to buy a new technology called PAN. Luckily, another business was already using that name. We couldn’t use it or else we would have been in trouble! So, someone in the company thought about an old king who united two countries in Europe. Our technology unites different devices, so we named it after the king, who was also called Bluetooth. It’s a bit of a silly name, but everyone remembers it. (May Unit 6)

- B 19. What would have happened if the company had used the name PAN?
(A) The company would have had to buy the other company making PAN.
(B) Another company would have

- been upset and would have tried to punish it.
(C) Two companies would have had to work together to make PAN.
(D) Some other company would have used the name Bluetooth.
- A 20. What is an advantage of the name Bluetooth?
(A) It’s difficult to forget.
(B) It sounds silly when you say it.
(C) Another company uses the name.
(D) It’s a name that brings countries together.
